PROPOSAL BY HITLER HAS LITTLE CHANCE OF BEING ACCEPTED

No Slackening of War Work in London on Eve Of Announced Speech by Allies' Chief Enemy—Military Delegation From Turkey Is Received—Food Prices Are Fixed

LONDON, Oct. 5 (AP).—The British Government maintained a "the war goes on" attitude tonight on the eve of Adolf Hitler's Reichstag speech, in which he may formulate peace proposals.

Any peace plan Hitler may offer has only one chance in 100 of being accepted by Great Britain and France. Nobody in authority in London is slackening the war work on these odds. Parliamentary discussion of British reaction to any such overtures has subsided.

High British military officials devoted their attention to a military delegation from Turkey. The mission, headed by General Kliazim Orbay, was entertained at lunch, with Lord Chatfield, Minister for Co-ordination of Defence, presiding. The Turkish officers tonight saw Richard Butler, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, and a group of Parliament members and senior officers at a dinner arranged by the Government hospitality department.

DANISH DELEGATION

Food Minister W. S. Morrison met with a Danish trade delegation, in line with Great Britain's attempt to keep the flow of dairy and meat products into the United Kingdom uninterrupted. The House of Commons threatened details of the emergency war budget with Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer. Sir John assured the House he would guard against "lavish expenditures."

Prime Minister Chamberlain took up the war production programme with heads of Great Britain's 6,000,000 trade unionists in a conference at which the Government urged full co-operation of organized labor. Union heads asked in return pledges against relaxing wage and hours standards in the armaments speed-up.

GERMAN LEADER VISITS WARSAW

Hitler's Speech to Reichstag Today Is Expected to Be Long

BERLIN, Oct. 5 (AP).—Adolf Hitler celebrated the success of his lightning war against Poland today with a triumphal visit to Warsaw as a prelude to his important declaration tomorrow before the Reichstag. Unusual secrecy surrounded his one-day trip to Warsaw, and the secrecy was matched by lack of speculation in the press concerning tomorrow's speech.

In an order of the day, issued to the army after his return, Hitler said his Polish campaign was finished and his soldiers "ready for anything."

PERIOD OF WAITING

A reported lull in military operations on the Western Front was interpreted by German sources as a period of waiting to see whether a peaceful way out of the conflict with the Western powers should develop. Hitler was scheduled to speak for about one and three-quarter hours tomorrow, beginning at noon (3 a.m. P.S.T.).

Foreign observers said that they expected the Fuehrer would attempt to fasten upon Great Britain responsibility for continuing the war. The general reaction to speeches by Prime Minister Chamberlain, Foreign Minister Viscount Halifax, and Premier Baldwin was that the Allied nations had shown little readiness to avail themselves of a German-Russian peace offer.

BOMBER AIR PATROLS NOW ESCORT VESSELS

NEW YORK, Oct. 5 (AP).—Great Britain and France now operate heavy bomber air patrols for a distance of 600 miles off their coasts, the skipper of a 7,000-ton freighter said here today.

"A heavy blow has been dealt to the German submarines," said the captain, declaring that bombers overhead kept watch for underwater raiders on a recent ocean crossing. "When we passed outside the 400-mile zone, we were met by destroyers which were also escorting eight other freighters, six of them British and two French," he said.

Massey Foundation Offers to Furnish Military Hospital

LONDON, Oct. 5 (CP).—Hon. L. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner in London, and Mrs. Massey, as trustees of the Massey Foundation, have conveyed to the Canadian Government an offer from the foundation to equip and maintain a convalescent hospital for the use of members of the Canadian expeditionary force. Arrangements already have been made in England for acquisition of a large country house for the proposed hospital.

WITHDRAWS HIS SUPPORT

Gilbert Layton Resigns as Minister in Duplessis' Quebec Cabinet

MONTREAL, Oct. 5 (CP).—Hon. Gilbert Layton, charging Premier Maurice Duplessis had placed "party politics before what I consider is his duty as a Canadian," resigned today as Minister without portfolio in Quebec's Union Nationale Government.

One of the ministers chosen by Mr. Duplessis when he assumed office in 1936, Mr. Layton said in a statement that, after listening to the Premier's speech at Three Rivers, Que., last night, opening his campaign for re-election on October 25, "there remained no choice for me but to resign as a member of his cabinet."

AMAZING PROCEDURE

"His attacks on the Federal Administration charged with the duty of prosecuting the war that has been declared; his endeavors to make political capital out of this situation; his efforts to inflame the electors of the province to protest against the participation in the present war, were just as amazing as they were disappointing to me," Mr. Layton said.

Mr. Duplessis was not available immediately for comment, but his secretary, George Leveille, said at Quebec that the Premier had received no official advice of the resignation. The withdrawal of Mr. Layton, representative for Montreal-St. George in the Legislature, brought to three, the number of ministers who have left the Union Nationale Cabinet since it was formed.

May Lead Division Overseas

OTTAWA, Oct. 5 (CP).—The Ottawa Citizen said today in a newspaper story that official announcement of the appointment of Major-General A. G. McNaughton as divisional commander of Canada's First Overseas Division may be expected shortly. A former Chief of the General Staff, General McNaughton is now chairman of the National Research Council. He had a brilliant record in the First Great War. Brig.-General Victor W. Odlum, of Vancouver, is mentioned by The Citizen as likely to be one of the ranking officers under General McNaughton.

Pay Fixed for Australian Army

MELBOURNE, Oct. 5 (CP-Reuters).—War-time allowances for Australian troops were fixed today by Cabinet decree. Before embarking on a day, married men will receive seven shillings and sixpence, with additional allowances for each child. Each man will receive one shilling more each day after sailing for service overseas.

AUSTRALIAN CAPITAL NOT TO BE EXPORTED

CANBERRA, Oct. 5 (CP).—Export of capital from Australia is prohibited under regulations just promulgated, and the Commonwealth Treasurer is empowered to mobilize for national purposes overseas assets owned by Australians.

Announcement Made Of German Threat to Sink American Liner

Washington Says Warning Given Officially by Head of German Navy—Ship Making Special Voyage to Repatriate Americans

LONDON, Oct. 6 (Friday).—The Admiralty maintained official silence early today on the White House announcement of the German navy had warned that the United States liner Iroquois would be sunk under circumstances similar to the loss of the British liner Athenia.

Unofficial sources at the Admiralty declared, however, any intimation that Great Britain would have anything to do with such a thing was "too absurd to deny."

RELAYED TO BRITAIN

News of the announcement in Washington was relayed to the highest British naval officials after midnight. An hour later came the statement that the Admiralty would have nothing to say at the moment. The United States Ambassador, Joseph P. Kennedy, said he had been told of the warning given by the German Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, but that he had no comment.

The list of passengers on the Iroquois was started before July 1, 1940, or the debts are revived by new agreements.

LONDON, Oct. 5 (AP).—A gripping story of how a British submarine in hostile waters escaped the pulverizing blows of enemy depth charges, while its crew gamely held sweepstakes on when the next explosion would come, was told tonight by a naval eyewitness.

CONFIDENT BAN TO BE LIFTED

Supporters of U.S. Neutrality Law Revision Claim to Be Gaining Ground

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (CP).—Some of the most forceful opposition orators have attacked the Roosevelt Administration's revised neutrality law, but tonight supporters of repeal of the United States Arms Embargo expressed confidence they had gained ground in the first three days of the Senate debate.

Chairman Key Pittman (Democrat, Nevada), of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, leader of the fight for the Administration Bill, said it appeared that between sixty-four and sixty-eight senators would vote for it.

An expression of gratification over progress of the fight also came from the White House. Stephen Early, presidential secretary, told reporters signs of Senate vote changes were "very satisfactory."

SAYS CAUSE NOT LOST

On the other hand, Senator Gerald P. Nye (Republican, North Dakota), asserted the Administration had no more than thirty-nine, "or possibly forty," sure votes for repeal. "We've got thirty-two definite votes against," he added. "That leaves twenty who have not made up their minds."

Sentiment grew for separation of the shipping restrictions from the arms embargo repeal section of the Revised Neutrality Act, accompanied by a sharp drop in attendance of both public and members, as debate continued.

Normal membership of the Senate is ninety-six, but it was difficult to get a quorum of forty-nine when debate was resumed at noon today.

Ottawa Disallows Alberta Statute

OTTAWA, Oct. 5 (CP).—Disallowance of the Alberta Act amending the Limitation of Actions Act was announced today in a special issue of The Canada Gazette. The same legislation was disallowed in March of this year and re-enacted immediately afterwards.

The amendment disallowed would outlaw all debts contracted prior to July 1, 1936, unless actions for recovery are started before July 1, 1940, or the debts are revived by new agreements.

Spain Orders All Key Germans Out

LONDON, Oct. 5 (CP).—The Daily Mail (Independent) today reported that General Francisco Franco had ordered a large-scale expulsion of Reich business representatives from Spain.

Two large German trusts active in buying and selling on the Peninsula were dissolved, the newspaper said. In addition, all Germans occupying key positions in Spanish firms were ordered to leave the country.

RUSSIAN DOMINATION OF LATVIA ASSURED WITH SIGNING OF PACT

War News In Brief Agreement Grants Soviets Privilege of Placing Air, Naval and Land Forces in Little Baltic State—Similar Arrangement With Lithuania Is Expected Soon at Moscow

Probable Outcome of Talks With Turkey Still Obscure

MOSCOW, Oct. 5 (AP).—Soviet Russia extended her influence over a second Western neighbor today and moved a step nearer to domination of the Northern Baltic through sweeping concessions gained in a ten-year mutual assistance agreement with Latvia.

The pact, resembling closely an agreement reached a week ago with another Baltic state, Estonia, gave Russia the right to establish several air fields, naval bases at the Latvian ports of Leipaja (Libau) and Ventspils (Windau), and a base for shore artillery to "protect Riga Bay."

Joseph Stalin joined the Soviet Premier and Foreign Commissar, Vyacheslav Molotov, in driving home the negotiations through which Latvia granted Russia the privilege to place a "limited" number of Soviet air, naval and land forces in Latvia.

Under the Russian-Estonian agreement, the Soviet Union obtained the right to establish naval and air bases and garrisons for 25,000 soldiers on Estonian soil.

LITHUANIA TO BE NEXT

Diplomatic observers considered a similar arrangement to be certain to come from current negotiations with Lithuania, third Baltic state of the West.

Turkey, meanwhile, with a diplomatic mission in Moscow and a military one in London, appeared to be walking the tight rope between Russian-German influence on the one hand and Anglo-French on the other.

Just what the ultimate outcome would be depended largely upon the exact nature of Soviet proposals, understood to ask assurance of Turkey's complete neutrality in the European war.

The Turkish delegation, headed by Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu, has been here two weeks for the most part marking time. New instructions arrived from Ankara yesterday, but the talks with Soviet leaders, interrupted by the Russian negotiations with Germany and the Baltic states, were not resumed today.

TURKISH-RUSSIAN QUESTIONS

Diplomatic circles speculated on status of the Turkish-Russian talks and agreed there was more to them than the mere question of Soviet rights in the Black Sea and the Dardanelles.

Some reports said that a hitch had developed over Russian demands that Turkey permit only Russian warships to enter the Black Sea through the Dardanelles, the "back door" to Russia. If Turkey agreed to such a proposition it would effectively bar British-French naval help through the Black Sea to Rumania.

Leipaja, one of the Latvian ports in which Russia was given naval rights in today's accord, is close to German-owned Memel, which the Nazis acquired from Lithuania last March 22.

This fact emphasized the belief in diplomatic quarters that strengthening of the Soviet position in the Baltic might be aimed at any possible further German moves there as well as at Great Britain.

SIX-POINT AGREEMENT

The pact contained six articles, which in effect provide:

1. Each party is to extend military aid to the other in case of aggression.
2. Russia is to furnish Latvia munitions at low prices.
3. The settling aside on lease terms of the two ports for Soviet naval bases, and sites for several airfields; the provision for a "limited" number of Soviet troops in Latvia; granting to the Soviet of the right to a coast artillery base between Ventspils and Piltage.
4. Neither party is to conclude any treaty directed against the other.
5. Each will observe strictly the sovereignty and social system of the other; the new Soviet naval bases will remain Latvian territory.
6. The pact is to extend for ten years.

French Consolidating New Lines in Enemy Territory on Border

Day's Calm Broken Only by Sporadic Artillery Fire—German Merchantman Captured by French Submarine in Mid-Atlantic

PARIS, Oct. 5 (AP).—French troops capitalized on a lull in fighting on the Western Front today to organize new lines in German border territory. The High Command communique tonight said it was "a generally calm day" with "activity of reconnaissance units of both sides on various parts of the front."

A morning communique gave no indication of action along the sixty-mile northern flank, except for sporadic artillery fire, but the French were reported to have strengthened their positions to prevent any possible German drive through the neutral Duchy of Luxembourg.

Semi-official military advice said the French took full possession of the strategic Borg Forest east of Luxembourg, after a short skirmish with German tanks.

A series of German local attacks of the past few days apparently faded out last night after attempts to filter into the French Western positions in the forest-covered Haardt Mountains near the German town of Pirmasens.

WHOLESALESALE CONVEY HERE

Problems of Electrical Industry Are Discussed at Pacific Convention

Problems affecting the electrical industry were the subject of discussion in a protracted debate at the first executive session of the Pacific division of the National Electrical Wholesalers' Association in the Empress Hotel yesterday afternoon.

The association, which holds conventions three times a year, is meeting this week in Victoria for the first time for twelve years. Its membership is restricted to United States wholesalers, and delegates are present in the city from the States of Washington, Oregon, California and Utah. The visiting party numbers approximately seventy-five persons, including the wives of several of the delegates.

Fred C. Todd, Los Angeles, will preside over the sessions to be held here.

This morning, at an open session of the convention, new developments in lamps and lighting will be discussed, and in the evening another session, executive members only will be held.

VANCOUVER SPEAKER
W. C. Mainwaring, general sales manager of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company, Vancouver, will be the guest speaker at tomorrow morning's session, when a talk will be given also by K. M. Robinson, president of the Washington Water Supply Company, Spokane.

Entertainments were provided in the Empress Hotel last evening for the delegates and their wives, and this afternoon and tomorrow afternoon the association's golf tournament will be held at the Royal Colwood course, for the "Copper Cup," first put up for competition at Del Monte, Cal., in 1908; the Manufacturers' Cup, and the Central Stores trophy.

The convention will conclude tomorrow evening in a banquet in the Empress Hotel, at which the golf trophies will be presented.

The Government listed maximum retail food prices.

FOOD PRICES
The list included sugar at fourpence-halfpenny (about eight cents) a pound; butter, one shilling and sevenpence (about thirty-four cents) a pound; and imported lard, sixpence (about eleven cents) a pound.

The maximum price of home-produced large eggs was set at two shillings and sixpence (about fifty-four cents) a dozen, and dried fruit, ranging from one shilling and threepence (twenty-seven cents) a pound. Meats, tea, margarine and other staples are to be included in a subsequent price list.

Public services, especially transportation, were beginning to work back toward more normal condition after the first sharp curtailment. Railway officials announced dining car service would be restored on principal trains, beginning October 16.

The Government announced the 240,000 men in the twenty-one to twenty-two age group who are being called under the Conscription Act to swell the group of those conscripted to 500,000 would be required to register October 21.

Authoritative sources said food rationing might be established about the end of October and would apply to butter, margarine, cooking fats, sugar, meat, bacon and ham.

The ambassador said the Iroquois left Cork, Eire, October 3, with about 600 Americans, and that only those able to prove United States citizenship had been allowed passage, since the trip was especially to repatriate Americans.

PRESIDENT'S STATEMENT
WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (P).—The text of President Roosevelt's announcement of measures to protect the steamship Iroquois follows:

After thorough discussion at the meeting of the Cabinet (this afternoon), and because it is felt that there is no reason for withholding the following facts from the public, this information is given out:

Yesterday the head of the German navy, Grand Admiral Raeder, officially informed the American Government, through the United States naval attaché in Berlin, that, according to information on which he relied, an American ship, the Iroquois, was en route to the coast of the American east coast.

The Iroquois sailed from Ireland on October 2 with a full list of American passengers.

This was the chief tenor of the official note sent to us by the head of the German navy.

As a purely precautionary measure, a coastguard vessel and several navy ships from the patrol will meet the Iroquois at sea and will accompany her to an American port. Furthermore, the captain of the Iroquois has been informed of this official note from the German Admiralty and has been asked to make a careful search for any possible explosives on board his ship.

The whole of this information has also been conveyed to the British and French Admiralties.

Provincial Government Sets Up Definition for Tierced Salmon Plants

Collecting licence fees for several years from "tierced salmon plants," the Provincial Government offered a definition yesterday for what will be considered as such a plant. The definition was as follows:

"For the purposes of Part III of the Fisheries Act, the words 'tierced salmon' shall mean any of the species Oncorhynchus, usually known and described by the trade names of sockeye, red and white springs, pinks, chums, cohoes, steelheads and bluebacks, either fresh, partly cured or cured with salt or salt brine, and packed in tierces or barrels with or without salt or salt brine."

Legal experts of the Government related the temptation to define "Oncorhynchus" holding that reference to "salmon" would be generally understood in the trade.

Flag Ceremony Held At Orphanage Here Is Impressive Rite

Bishop of Columbia, Brigadier Sutherland Brown And Others Take Part in Important Ceremony at B.C. Protestant Orphanage

SOMETHING about the symbolism of the Union Jack, and its significance as an emblem of freedom, liberty and justice, particularly at the present time, was told by Brigadier J. Sutherland Brown in the address he gave at the interesting flag-raising ceremony, which took place at the British Columbia Protestant Orphanage yesterday afternoon.

The ceremony was witnessed by a small gathering which included many of the older children of the orphanage, as well as the guests who attended the annual pound-party at the home, shortly after the dedication by Bishop Sexton. It was hoisted to the top of the sixty-seven foot staff, where it will be seen many times during the year on important anniversaries.

TENDERS THANKS

As president of the orphanage board, Reginald Hayward welcomed the Bishop of Columbia, Brigadier Sutherland Brown, Major F. V. Longstaff, Alderman A. Wills and other special guests present. The flagpole was one of the finest in the city, said Mr. Hayward, who stated that in the ordinary way it would have cost between $200 and $250 to erect it, but thanks to the generosity of friends, it was a free gift to the home. In this connection he specially thanked Ernest Peat, Colwood, who had given the pole; the City and the B.C. Electric Railway Company, who had erected the staff and given the equipment; Major F. V. Longstaff, who had also given a considerable part of the equipment; the Melrose Company, who had done the painting, and R. H. Shanks, treasurer, who donated the twelve-by-six-foot flag.

CONSERVATIVES CURTAIL PLANS

Political Activity Curbed and Organizations Pledged to Full Support

Following a lead set by Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion and R. L. Maitland, K.C., M.P.P., in Federal and provincial fields, Victoria Conservatives decided at a meeting of the central executive this week to eliminate annual meetings in the central and ward associations, abandon club quarters, and limit organizational activities to social occasions for the time being.

W. H. M. Haldane, president of the Victoria Conservative Association, said the central executive would meet again in November, and after that would meet likely convene once every two months. Organization, he said, would be maintained, but no political advantage would be sought during the course of the war. The support and services of the organization would be placed at the disposal of the country while the emergency existed, Mr. Haldane said.

Waiving of the annual meetings in city and ward organizations means that existing officers will carry on in their respective spheres. Decision was also taken to retain the present headquarters for meetings, as and when required, closing, however, the inquiry office formerly maintained. Ward activities will be continued, with social programmes for the most part, it was explained.

YOUTH REMANDED IN HUNTING CASE

Court Releases Grieve on Own Recognizance in Sum of $500 to Appear on October 11

Charles Alvin Grieve, eighteen, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of David George Lord during a hunting accident at Luxton on Friday, was released on his own recognizance in the sum of $500 to appear on the afternoon of October 11, when he stood on remand in Provincial Police Court yesterday morning. Bail had previously been set at $1,000. Grieve was represented by F. C. Elliott, and Sergeant G. A. Johnson appeared for the Crown.

In view of the verdict of accidental death returned by a coroner's jury on Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Elliott submitted that the accused should be released on his own recognizance.

STATES POSITION
"There is a charge of manslaughter before me, sworn under oath. I have no concern with a coroner's jury," Magistrate Henry C. Hall replied.

"The Attorney-General's Department offers no objection. The department may decide not to prosecute," Mr. Elliott replied.

"The responsibility is still being placed on me. I have here a charge of manslaughter, one of the most serious known to the code. If the department agrees to take the responsibility, I will use my discretion," Magistrate Hall ruled.

On receipt of assurance from Sergeant Johnson, the magistrate released Grieve on his own recognizance. He was remanded to October 11 with the understanding that there would be a further remand to October 18.

CARE SHOULD BE EXERCISED

E. E. Gregg, of Forestry Department, Addresses Kinsmen on Protection

Necessity for forest protection, individual care, and the steps that are taken to preserve this basic British Columbia industry were outlined to members of the Kinsmen Club by E. E. Gregg, of the Provincial Forestry Department, at their dinner meeting in Spencer's dining-room last evening.

Mr. Gregg enumerated the three principal destroyers of forests, namely, insects, disease and fire. He touched briefly on the first two causes and mentioned steps that the Forestry Department has taken to combat them. However, he said that fire has been the biggest destroyer of forests in British Columbia and it was something that everyone could help combat.

The Herculean task confronting early fire rangers in this province and the first legislation referring to bush fires were reviewed by the speaker.

Referring to functions of the department today, Mr. Gregg said that they had some 250 cars and trucks, short wave transmitting and receiving sets and various fire-fighting equipment. He pointed out, however, that this was just sufficient to satisfy the minimum requirements of the forests today.

HAZARD HAS INCREASED

The staff and equipment has grown, he declared, but the hazard has increased proportionately, this being due mainly to the increasing extent of slash areas and the proximity of the public to these areas. He divided protection efforts into three categories: Prevention, by education and legislation; detection, road and river patrols and mountain lookouts, and suppression of fires by means of modern equipment.

Mr. Gregg felt that present conditions in Europe would result in this province being called upon to provide more lumber to the United Kingdom. In the past, British Columbia provided only one-quarter of the United Kingdom's lumber imports. It was becoming increasingly more difficult for the Baltic area to provide timber, Mr. Gregg said.

Ronald Whittington, president, introduced the speaker, and Vernon Ridgway moved the vote of thanks.

SEE AIRMEN AS WAR PRISONERS

Pilots Reported Missing Are Recognized in News Reel in London

LONDON, Oct. 5 (C.P.)—Two British airmen—one a Canadian—who were reported by the Air Ministry this week as "missing, believed to be prisoners of war," have been recognized in a newsreel taken in a German internment camp.

They are Pilot Officer Alfred Burke Thompson, of Penetanguishene, Ont., and Squadron Leader S. S. Murray.

The two officers were reported missing after it was understood, taking part in the bombing of the Kiel Canal in the early days of the war.

The manager of a cinema at York, Mervyn Moore, said a non-commissioned officer belonging to the same squadron as Thompson and Murray thought he recognized them on the screen. With Murray's wife and Thompson's fiancée he visited the cinema twice again. The three then said they were certain about the identity of the men.

CONCLUSIVE EVIDENCE
Moore cut the picture from the newsreel and forwarded an enlargement to the squadron. Later, the wing commander of the squadron wrote the manager: "This has settled the matter beyond all dispute. Your action in supplying irrefutable evidence is much appreciated by myself and officers of the squadron." The letter said Thompson's fiancée and Murray's wife were "overjoyed" to see the officers alive.

The newsreel (Paramount) shows the airmen looking fairly cheerful in the company of Nazi Air Force officers. The curly-haired Thompson at the microphone describes how well they were being treated. The picture is said to have been taken at an internment camp near Hamburg.

Thompson joined the Royal Air Force privately, paying his own fare to England. Murray, born in Singapore, was at one time assistant air attaché in the British Embassy in China.

CANADA'S WAR EFFORT

One of Canada's war efforts is "the training of pilots and the supply of planes, pilots and mechanics to the Air Force." At the time this was announced it was stated that "the Government is making an immediate contribution of trained personnel, which will necessarily be limited, due to the needs of our own training." Then it was added: "The Government has today (September 19) authorized a plan of intensified air training in Canada, so that there may be available a progressively-increasing number of pilots and airmen for active service." There is now the announcement that recruits are not being sought for the Royal Canadian Air Force, which is taken to mean that there are enough available or on the waiting list.

Great Britain for years has been willing to accept recruits from this country for the Royal Air Force, and is still willing. The ambition of Canadians to serve in the air or as ground mechanics has not been encouraged to anything like the extent that it exists. In the stoppage of recruiting there is discouragement, and that decision has also aroused concern in aircraft manufacturing plants that foresee the lack of a steady flow of orders for training planes. The air effort of the Dominion has been restricted, and without any clear-cut explanation by the Government of what is intended. No statement has been made of the number of pilots and mechanics who will be sent overseas, or of how many, supplementary to these, will be kept in training at home.

It is recognized that, because of lack of equipment, there has been something in the nature of a temporary cessation in Canada's war effort as it affects land, sea and air forces. It is that, more than anything else, that explains recent orders discontinuing recruiting in the different services. What is happening leaves the country somewhat mystified about the situation. It is known that there is to be a military division prepared for overseas service, and another division for replacement purposes in connection with any force designed to serve in France. What is not known is the extent of the military force the Dominion intends to maintain at home. It is not known what is the ultimate intention regarding the strength of the Royal Canadian Navy, beyond the fact that the personnel at the time of the outbreak of war is being doubled. That aim seems to have been reached, as naval recruiting has ceased. It has ceased also, according to official announcement, in the bulk of the military units of the country. It has ceased so far as the Royal Canadian Air Force is concerned.

In view of all this there should be a restatement of the country's intention in its war effort, and perhaps particularly in relation to the Royal Canadian Air Force. There is a waiting list of 25,000 youths anxious to enter the service. If only a small number of these are to be given the opportunity, they should be helped in some other way to fulfil their desire. Several hundred youths have left this Province and enlisted with the Royal Air Force, and many more are prepared to go from all over the country, but cannot for financial reasons. The Federal Government, if it will not accept these youths for service with the Royal Canadian Air Force, could facilitate their desire for service by paying their passages to Great Britain.

AN ALDERMAN'S PATRIOTISM

Mr. John Kerry, K.C., an alderman of Montreal and a member of that city's executive committee, when he realized that war was imminent, took passage by airplane to England to volunteer to serve in any capacity in the British Army. He left Canada because, in the Great War, he was rejected for military service in the Expeditionary Force through poor eyesight. On that occasion he went to Paris and volunteered to join the French Army. He was taken and supplied with glasses to aid his sight. After a while he was able to get a transfer to the Canadian Expeditionary Force.

This time Alderman Kerry has not changed being rejected by the Canadian recruiting authorities. It now appears that he has no immediate likelihood of being enrolled in the British Army, so, once again, he has gone to France to enlist. What has happened to him there is not as yet known, but if he tells his story to the French there is no doubt that one who has already proved his worth and is anxious to serve again will be given the opportunity. What he seeks is a place in the fighting line, not a cushy job. Once before, The Gazette of Montreal says, "his will" overcame the initial "won't" of the military authorities here and now, "the resolute force of his perseverance" has carried him again to France to enlist for military service.

THE WAR OF NERVES

Those who complain that the War bears all the earmarks of being a desultory struggle are superficially right, for the time being Germany has been withholding her hand because of her Polish preoccupation, and because, too, she labors under the delusion that she can, through her allies, Russia and Italy—persuade Great Britain and France that, as the Polish situation has been liquidated, there is no reason left for them to fight. The war of nerves precipitated by Hitlerism is now confined to Germany herself. She has allied herself with a country as Machiavellian in its outlook as the Third Reich, and her people are tremulous about the future. It is safe to say that the great bulk of the civilian population of Germany does not wish for war with either Great Britain or France, and is susceptible of the voice of Herr Hitler and his colleagues in their attitude towards Bolshevism.

Russia and Germany are to consult together as to their future joint course of action if France and Great Britain will not make peace. That is an implied threat, and one in line with the dictates of power politics. It is described in England as lighting the candle in the pumpkin at Halloween. It will be answered officially from London and Paris, and the reply is a foregone conclusion. Neither of the democracies seeking to put an end to aggression is at war with Russia. Logically speaking, they both should be, inasmuch as Russia, like Germany, has been an aggressor in Poland. Berlin, in its latest pact with Moscow, has as its purpose a desire to drag Russia into the maelstrom of coming events, presumably because German militarism does not believe in its strength to cope with the Anglo-French front. What may be Moscow's purpose in the pact engineered by Herr von Ribbentrop is quite another matter. All that is certain is that it will be interpreted to suit Russia's ultimate desires. Literally speaking, Germany is between the devil and the deep blue sea and is endeavoring to effect compromise after compromise with the former, whom she does not trust and by whom she is not trusted. It is small wonder that the latest phase of the war of nerves is confined within the boundaries of the Third Reich.

INDUSTRIAL EXPANSION

Railway earnings are increasing substantially because of wartime conditions in the Dominion. Already large grain shipments are moving eastward for export, and freight traffic otherwise benefiting as the industry of the country begins to do its share in supplying munitions and foodstuffs required by Great Britain. There will be an increase in production along special lines throughout the country as Canada becomes more and more of a supply base for the Allied Powers, and she is favored already in this position by the large wheat crop.

Orders for munitions and other material are about to be placed in the Dominion on behalf of the British Government, and these will give a considerable impetus to industry and one that will maintain while the War is in progress. There is the expenditure in prospect of hundreds of millions of dollars in industry, which will mean greater employment, and the unemployed problem should grow progressively less acute. The benefits of a larger circulation of money will be felt by all, provided a stern check is kept on prices. That is the doubtful factor in the situation, and much more is expected in this particular from the Government under its wartime legislation that is yet apparent.

In the matter of industry as a whole, Canada occupies a strategic position, much more important now than in the last War, because her plants are better developed and she has vast supplies of raw materials essential to the conduct of the struggle. Properly organized, there can be a material effort made by the Dominion which will be of vital assistance to the War, and which will redound to the advantage of the economic life of Canadians.

RUSSIA AND RELIGION

Shortly before the outbreak of war, Sir Evelyn Wrench, a former editor of The Spectator, paid a visit to Russia. He has written for that paper some of his impressions. While there Sir Evelyn and his party were conducted everywhere by Soviet guides, who, he said, refused to talk about religion, saying they knew nothing of the church. "Our guides," says Sir Evelyn, "being members of the Communist Party were naturally atheists. We asked one of them if she knew whether any of her contemporaries went to church. 'No,' there may be some, but I don't know of any," was the reply.

In Russia the attendance at church services is largely confined to old people. Of twenty churches seen by Sir Evelyn, only one was used for religious services; the others were museums, tenement buildings or were falling to pieces. He found that most of Moscow's five hundred churches had been pulled down, and he describes "this liquidation of Christianity as one of the most incredible results of the revolution. To estimate what it must have implied in terms of human suffering is impossible."

Note and Comment
By SANDHAM GRAVES

"Come the three corners of the world in arms, and we shall shock them: Newell shall it be! England to itself do rest but true!" —Shakespeare.

Niccolo Machiavelli lived in the bold, bad town of Florence, in the bold, bad days of the latter fifteenth and early sixteenth centuries, and he was a bold, bad thinker into the bargain.

He said, in effect, that it did not matter what a monarch did, so long as he had his way. He said that a ruler would be a fool to tell anyone his true plans if he expected to be allowed to carry them out undisturbed. He said it was all right to promise any nation anything, keeping the fingers crossed at the same time. He said a limited number of things, and all of them were bold and bad, even for Florentines of that day, and Florence then was not a bad thing to be. Machiavelli put it all down in a bold, bad book; and, from time to time, bold, bad people looked in that book, and emerged with the vision of a Tamerlane glittering and dazzling to brightly in front of their eyes.

Nicknames Revived

Many old-time army nicknames have been revived among the troops. Every Brown is known as "Buster," a Clarke becomes "Nobby" and six-footers receive "Shorty." All those with the name of Gale or Gail are called "Windy" and a Murphy is known as "Spud." Heard in the "Mud Hook" on Fort Street: "I've had a lot of trouble with another woman ever since I got married last year." "Just like you. I suppose it's an old flame." "Old flame nothing. It's my mother-in-law!"

Framing Neutrality Rules

The rules of the Game of War, it would appear, are not very well defined. The wish of peace-loving people throughout the world will be that the time may be hastened when appeals to arms shall not be necessary. Under what is interpreted as the existing rules of war seem to consist of the making of alterations upon the part of neutral states whereby aid can be given to such belligerent nations as the neutral power wishes to assist without the recourse to arms—O.H.N.

Official Blindness

Cyclists riding their machines on the sidewalks in the busiest streets of the city are becoming a positive nuisance, and we have been wondering lately whether the policemen on beat duty are aware that there is a by-law forbidding the practice. Apparently some of them are not. The other day we watched a cyclist ride his machine onto the sidewalk practically under the noses of two men in blue, who couldn't have failed to see him. At the other end of the block was another policeman, and the cyclist blithely rode past him, neither taking the slightest notice of the other. Nobody wants an unduly harsh police force, but after all, there is a limit to which leniency should go—R.M.

IMMIGRATION STOPPED

OTTAWA, Oct. 5 (CP)—The war has practically stopped immigration from Europe to Canada, Immigration Department officials said today. Reports from London today stated 60,000 refugees were still in London, but officials here thought few would come to Canada. "They are not the type who would make suitable settlers in this country," one said.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

From The Daily Colonist of October 6, 1889.

The Steamer Lily L.—The steaming schooner Lily L. arrived at San Francisco on Thursday night from the North with 900 seal skins. She had a rough voyage and nearly foundered at one time, being struck by a heavy sea, which stove in three of her boats and set everything movable on the deck afloat.

Another New Block—F. G. Richards, Jr. sold yesterday to John Turner the lot on the north-west corner of Douglas and View Streets for $13,500. Mr. Turner intends to erect a handsome brick block on the spot.

Sockeye Salmon Run.—The sockeye salmon still continue to run in great numbers in the Fraser River. The catch has not only been larger this season than that of any previous fishing season, but the run continues much later than it usually does. The close season, set apart by the inspector—minimizing the mesh of 7½ inches—extended from August 25 to September 15, in order to give the sockeye an opportunity to return to their spawning grounds. It would appear, however, from the continued run of these fish that the close season was not sufficient for the purpose of which it is intended, and should have been extended to about the present time.

ment. During the next hour they counted six detonations as the enemy groped about in search of them with sweep wires, electrically operated bombs and depth charges.

SIXPENNY A THROW

The account went on to say the submarine could do nothing but remain on the bottom, and during this time the crew held "sweepstakes" at sixpence a throw on when the next explosion would come.

"The bombardment intensified. For the next hour the explosions averaged one every two minutes. They grew gradually more distant. Then there was a lull.

"About teatime the strained, weary men in the submarine heard a wire scraping over the after jumping-stay... a series of bumps thudded along the hull...

"Then what they awaited happened. A shattering explosion... all lights were extinguished. There was everywhere the crash of broken glass, and in the silence that followed the sound the water spurting and the hiss of air escaping from the high-pressure system.

PLENTY OF DAMAGE

"Portable electric lights revealed enough of the catastrophe. One motor and both engines were out of action. The hull had a dozen leaks in the air system air hissed as from a punctured tire.

The air gradually grew foul, the report said, and the first lieutenant passed around peppermint drops and a bag of candy to his men.

When the commander knew by his clock that darkness had fallen, he mustered his men and told them that if the battle tanks held he intended to rise to the surface and "although his ship was as helpless as a log... fight to the death."

The men loaded torpedo tubes and prepared ammunition for other guns, and "as a last grim measure they prepared a demolition charge to blow their ship to pieces rather than let her fall into the hands of the enemy."

Finally, when all was ready for what they believed would be their "last fight," the crew blew the tanks and rose founderingly to the surface.

DANGEROUS PRESSURE

The pressure inside the hull had risen to a dangerous point.

The "lightweight" captain guarded against being literally blown through the hatch when it was opened by having a 200-pound signalman hold him by the legs, the account said.

Despite this protection, the force of air blew the captain's binoculars over his head, the eye-witness reported.

He climbed out and looked anxiously about him. It was a clear night and there was nothing in sight, the account said.

The periscope was gone, the wireless smashed, communication pipes crushed and engines disabled.

But the crew eventually made sufficient repairs to sail slowly away and send out a wireless for help.

British cruisers and an aircraft carrier appeared just as enemy bombing planes appeared overhead.

AIR ATTACK FOILED

"An air attack by the enemy bombing planes crumbled under the anti-aircraft fire of the cruisers and the attacks of fighters sent up by the carrier," the account continued.

"When the crew reached a submarine base the commanding officer found a letter from a rural relative awaiting him, opening with the line: 'We hardly realize there is a war.'"

Details of the submarine's personnel and her position were withheld.

LUMBER PRICES NOT ADVANCED

Industry in B.C. Operating At Ninety Per Cent Normal at Present

While the future of the British timber market is still in doubt, as a result of the war, the timber industry of British Columbia is now operating at about 90 per cent of normal, according to the estimates of its leaders today. It is hoped it may be able to re-employ its idle workers on a normal basis during the next few months if Great Britain can continue to import large quantities of lumber during wartime.

Contrary to the expectations of many, lumber prices have not advanced as a result of the war. The present prices were set before hostilities began. In the logging industry the price of logs is down about $1 per thousand for fir and cedar, compared with prices a year ago.

EMPLOYMENT LIMITED

Apparently many idle men have supposed that the war would produce an immediate boom in the timber industry, with rising prices, and they have expected a quick opening of employment opportunities. They have been disappointed to find that about 10 per cent of the regular workers are still unemployed after the summer shutdown of the camps.

Operators hope that when Great Britain has organized its imports fully on a war basis, with safe convoys across the Atlantic, it may be possible for the timber industry here to get back to normal operations and employment.

BIG TOUR YEAR IS ANTICIPATED

C.P.R. Planning Advertising Campaign to Direct Tourists to Victoria

All roads in Canada are going to lead to Victoria during the coming winter, for with the hazards now existing in the Atlantic Ocean, tourists who normally would visit Bermuda or the British West Indies will have no place to go but the Pacific Coast.

Such is the prediction of the Canadian Pacific Railway Press Bureau at Montreal, which at present is arranging to launch a big advertising campaign to bring tourists to Victoria and Vancouver during the winter months.

In a letter to the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, Harry Smith, manager of the C.P.R. bureau, points out that it will be impossible to arrange world tours in wartime, and most would-be travelers are refusing to consider voyages on the Atlantic Ocean.

PLAN TO CO-OPERATE
Consequently, the press bureau of the railway is arranging its whole organization in a campaign to bring Canadian tourists from Eastern provinces to the Pacific Coast this

KISS YOUR TIRED FEELING GOODBYE!

Pepples Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It.
The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did—even look healthy and strong, yet you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, doped, tired and restless.
Low blood count means you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.
Get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today. They are world-famous for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles. Then with your blood count up, you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today.

year. H. T. Coleman, Vancouver press representative of the C.P.R., and Mrs. Gwen Cash, Victoria, representative, yesterday conferred with Frank Glisma, acting director of the Victoria and Island bureau, on plans to co-operate in a campaign to attract tourists.

The discount on Canadian currency in the United States also is expected to bring to Victoria many Canadian tourists who would otherwise travel south of the line, and, conversely, the advantage in exchange in their favor is calculated to attract thousands of United States visitors to Canada this year.

Already the Victoria bureau has received many requests for information from prospective visitors during the winter, and numerous inquiries for furnished flats and apartments.

There is every indication that the winter of 1939-40 will be a bumper tourist season for Vancouver Island.

GETS THREE YEARS FOR BOMBING SCHOOL

NELSON, Oct. 5 (CP).—Judge W. A. Nisbet in county court today found Fred Babakoff guilty of placing a bomb under the Oulichen School near Brilliant, B.C., about twenty-five miles south of here, with intent to do damage, and sentenced him to three years in penitentiary.

The judge, in passing sentence, said there was "no use in lecturing the defendant or saying what a despicable crime it was."

—BOUND TO BE USEFUL.
"Here's a book," said the persistent salesman, "you can't afford to be without."
"I never read."
"Well, buy it for the children."

"Well, don't you want a nice heavy book to throw at the dog now and then?"

Real Tropic Heat—The "Moose," the "Buddies"—And a Moonlight Wallow—En Route to Rio

By Spy

Years passed. Tick-tock . . . tick-tock . . . tick . . . dead cats and doormice . . . would those beats from the saloon clock never quicken—would those thrummings from the propeller-shaft never raise their cadence? . . . No . . . phew! . . . and it was beginning to get really hot. Seams bubbled on the decks; flies practically commandeered the dining-room; copra-bugs crept from all conceivable cracks and crannies, and all metal dripped in steamy condensation.

Day after day, league upon league, through that silent, sullen sea—so silent and so stullen that it seemed likely to split into deep liquid fissures if the sun tortured it much longer—the Scylla oozed. Passengers panted, dabbing their faces, eyes—tenacious, or else sagged into deck-chairs, limp-limbed, with lower jaws dangling—breathing stertorously, as though chloroformed.

Even the "Buddies" seemed temporarily subdued. Doubtless the sun had sucked up most of their spare sap; at any rate, on those first cremating days they pattered about the decks—balanced and decorous in spruce white "ducks," and looking as if they might even hesitate risking a milk-shake, if stimulants were vogue.

In tune to which, the Moose was fairly grancing. For she had been taking (with highballs) what is customarily termed a "motherly interest" in them; so now, naturally, she attributed their strange state of sobriety and apparent reticence wholly and solely to her lofty influence and doctrines. Obviously she had either raised or shamed those bandits into "seeing the light," at last . . . at least that was what her pale "Moose-mind" was telling her. For, on that special date, I well remember how her virtual groit of a mouth swung wide and then clamped down on: "Can you believe it!! The Doctor hasn't touched a drop since last night!!!"

"Since what time last night?" I replied dispassionately. "A hellish din was coming from his cabin at three this morning. It's only 7:30 now, and I don't suppose his nose had time to swell yet. Men don't get really thirsty until their tongues and snouts begin giving a little trouble on the morning after—didn't you know that?" I terminated yawning.

"Oh," the Moose murmured, board-faced, "but not the doctor, I'm sure. You're just born mean. I've been telling those boys, right along, that alcohol in large quantities just ruins their nervous systems and digestions, and if you weren't so goth-darned sour-pussed, you'd see how swell it's working right now!"

"Horse-feathers!!!"
"You're no genuin'mun," the Moose snapped, with her "dime-eyes" pinkly flashing.
"Forget it. Even if you stop your heroics drinking for half an hour, they'll only develop 'D.T.'s' catching up again—so what?"

"Gee, but you're funny!" the Moose snorted, and flounced forward—and it is now necessary to record that by high noon all "Buddies" were comfortably tight again, and zig-zagging towards the Ladies of the Sewage? It is not, spite all, the Moose stayed adamant, and ever she vowed bravely that before landing she'd have "those dear boys all nice and sober!"

Dear Moose. With such deep understanding of men's souls and stomachs she should have known better. Nor did she even seem aware that, with the salvaging of the "Buddies," so would end her queenly jurisdiction—also the wildest time she had ever or was ever likely to have, until the Good Earth should claim her.

Requiescat in pace—on the contrary, I'm bound to dig her up again—such bones rattle far too prettily for sudden burial in such dull circumstances. . . . However, for the present a dead Moose is nobody's business—and now, in full tropic swelter, thoughts of a dead Moose become still less enchanting.

So, about that heat—vibrant, dancing, delicious heat! It rolled, it bowed, it hung, it clung; it raved, it almost sang. 'Twas ecstasy. What's more, it heralded propinquity to my near-forgotten goal—Rio . . . jungles; snakes; fish; flesh; fowl and flora of all conceivable colors and dimensions.

For, in the shade of such prolonged frustration, I had practically forgotten why I was, or whether I was at sea or hunting the lost chord in one of the bigger Rope Factories.

But that mammoth heat revived me—shot my imagination sky-high and crazy. In a trice I had discovered six new continents and won five times the fame and notoriety of Drake, Cortez, Morgan, or any of the greater South American Conquistadores. In less than a second I had potted Peru, chilled Chili and peppered Cayenne with my repeating "Schneider!" Huzzah! Huzzah!! Jenkins!! . . . quick, my "Colt!"

Perkins!! . . . quicker, my "Colt!!!" . . . Egad, what ripping sport!!—which must now be left, for, back aboard the Scylla, in conjunction with the heat, salivae were turning at canyaves and tossing timbers about, preparatory to erecting a make-shift swimming-tank. Practically the entire ship's company had queued up to witness this oddity, and, in premature anticipation, most had donned bathing suits, six hours before the tank was ready.

had found it reasonably safe, and the signs adequate.

Mr. Alexander further argued that the railway tribunal had exclusive powers and duties in determination of safety regulations at railway crossings, and submitted that this court had no power to make a contrary finding on the matter. Even if the court could inquire into the safety regulations, the evidence would show that the crossing was well protected by railway signs and that the only negligence causing the accident was that of the driver of the car.

Orphanage Pound Party Has Generous Response

Seven 100-pound sacks of flour, half a dozen boxes of apples and pears, and dozens of tins and bottles of jam and preserves were but a part of the generous stores donated to the British Columbia Protestant Orphanage at the annual pound party held at the comfortable home on Cook Street yesterday afternoon.

Scores of old and new friends delivered their gifts in person and remained afterward for the flag-raising ceremony and afternoon tea. Many other friends who were unable to attend had their gifts delivered and sent their good wishes. About $75 was received in cash.

Guests were welcomed by the president of the ladies' committee, Mrs. F. V. Longstaff, and were given an opportunity to look over the home and even to meet the happy family of forty-two children, which at the present time includes a rosy-cheeked baby of nine months. The eldest member of the family is fourteen, and she, with others of the older girls and boys, helped the matron, Mrs. A. Barker, and her assistant, Mrs. E. Harkness, with many little details of the party.

Tea was served in the big dining-room from a long candle-lit table, at each end of which stood an enormous posy of Michaelmas daisies and bronze-colored chrysanthemums in silver baskets. Mrs. W. A. Luney, assisted by Mrs. R. T. Elliott, were the convener, and other members of the committee assisting were Mesdames F. Dillabough, W. Dillabough, Frank Calvert, O. M. Brown, E. M. Brown, Cox, F. Shepherd, J. G. Simpson, Butler, King and Humphreys, and Misses Murray and Newbury. Members of the Junior Auxiliary also assisted in the tea.

Miss Enid Fox, vice-president of the auxiliary, announced the details of the attractive programme given before and during tea, among the children of the home who took part being Irene and Lillian Hukkin, who danced a jig; Irene and Charlie Ellington, who recited "The Frog"; Billy and David Steele, who gave an action song, "Old Faithful"; and a group of boys who sang "Home on the Range," a number which proved so popular that it had to be repeated. Miss Jean Grant was the guest artist, contributing three beautifully sung numbers, "A Bird Sang in the Rain," "Cloths of Heaven" and "Connais-tu le Pays?" Her accompanist was Miss Noel Smith.

Mrs. Dillabough was at the receipt of custom.

Mr. J. P. McBeath, Vancouver, a family friend, gave the bride in marriage. She wore a pretty frock of Burgundy velvet and a matching turban of shirred silk and a beautiful white fox fur. She carried a shower bouquet of Sweetheart roses and white carnations. Attending the bride was her sister, Miss Marion Bell, in a frock of Regatta blue silk with a small hat of dusty rose silk trimmed with blue, who carried a bouquet of Bebe gladioli, carnations and chrysanthemums in shades of cream and deep pink. Dr. W. W. Bell, brother-in-law of the bride, was best man, and the ushers were her cousins, Messrs. Kenneth and Carmen Easton.

A reception was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Bell, 740 Victoria Avenue, where gold and blue predominated in the decorations, arranged by Mrs. Jack Mackay. Vases of roses and tall pink and gold tapers adorned the supper table, which was centred with the bride's cake, beautifully iced by Mrs. A. E. Rippington, an intimate family friend.

The bride's mother wore a gown of mulberry crepe trimmed with gold, and a black hat, and Mrs. Bell, Jr., wore a frock of olive green crepe applied in lighter green flowers, and tan accessories. Roses in gold tones formed their corsage bouquets. After a honeymoon trip to Toronto, and a tour of the Niagara Peninsula, Mr. and Mrs. Edkins will make their home in Winnipeg. For traveling, the bride chose a teal blue and wine ensemble.

MacFarlane-Smith

St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church, Esquimalt, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday evening, when Rev. Arthur Buchlager united in marriage Catherine Shirley Smith, only daughter of Mrs. G. Pittas, Cordova, Alaska, and the late Mr. J. Smith, and Mr. Keith Dunbar MacFarlane, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. K. MacFarlane, 483 Grafton Street, Esquimalt. The bride was given in marriage by her cousin, Mr. J. Stockand, and wore a becoming suit of navy blue with white hat and white accessories. Her corsage bouquet was of gardenias and swansons. She was attended by Miss Elsie Butt, who wore a navy blue suit and matching hat, with black accessories, and a corsage bouquet of Sweetheart roses and swansons. Mr. Charles Frankham was best man. Mr. Harry Symons played the wedding march, and the ushers were Mr. Percy Wickens, Mr. William Ellison and Mr. C. Harbison.

About sixty guests were welcomed at a reception at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. M. Stockand, at Luxton, where a lovely profusion of flowers had been arranged for the occasion. A beautiful three-tier wedding cake centred the attractively arranged refreshment table. Mrs. N. Stockand, wearing a gown of black satin with white lace trimming, received the guests. She was assisted by the groom's mother, Mrs. MacFarlane, who was smartly dressed in navy blue. Both wore corsage bouquets of carnations. Mr. and Mrs. MacFarlane left for Vancouver at midnight, and on their return will make their home in Victoria.

CARVER-SWAN

The many friends of the bride, who with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Titus L. Swan, lived on Moss Street for a number of years before leaving for Scotland some years ago, will be interested in the following item from The Hertford Times, England, of Saturday, September 9.

"The wedding took place at Tupsley Church on Wednesday, the ceremony being a quiet one owing to the international situation, of Mr. John Gerald Carver, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Carver, Ingarsby, Aylestone Hill, Hereford, and Miss Malise Swan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Swan, Barnet, Herts.

"The vicar, the Rev. J. S. Dugdale, officiated, and Dr. Percy C. Hull was at the organ. The church was decorated in autumnal colorings. "The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a turquoise blue two-piece dress of light wool, with black accessories, and a spray of white carnations. She carried a white prayer book. There were no bridesmaids. Mr. Ronald Carver, the bridegroom's brother, was best man.

"As the bride entered the church, Dr. Hull played the bridal march from Wagner's 'Lehngren'. The hymn, 'Lead Us, Heavenly Father, Lead Us,' was followed by the blessing of the ring, Psalm 121 and prayers. After the second hymn, 'The King of Love, My Shepherd Is,' there was a short address, followed by the hymn, 'God Be in My Head,' and the service proceeded with the blessing. During the signing of the register, the hymn 'Praise, My Soul, the King of Heaven,' was sung, and Dr. Hull played Mendelssohn's 'Wedding March,' as the bridal couple left the church.

"There was no reception, but Mrs. Swan held a family luncheon party at Ingarsby.

PEARSON PITCHES BRILLIANT GAME FOR YANKEES

SHUTS OUT CINCY REDS 4-0 TO GIVE NEW YORK VICTORY

Veteran Righthander Allows National League Champions Two Hits as McCarthy's Boys Take Second Straight in World Series—Babe Dahlgren Hits Homer in the Fourth

By SID FREDER (Associated Press Staff Writer)
YANKEE STADIUM, NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—In one of the greatest of all world series pitching performances, Monte Pearson handily outpitched Cincinnati Reds with two lone singles today to lead the Yankees to the second straight triumph of their drive toward a fourth straight world baseball championship.

Aided by the surprising batwork of Babe Dahlgren, "weak sister" of the Yankee hitting order, who added a homer and double to his timely two-bagger of Wednesday's victory.

Pearson paced the American League kings to a 4-0 conquest, bringing to the halfway mark of the current series. They won 2-1 in Wednesday's opening game.

For seven and one-third innings, as a throng of 59,791 fans sat tensed, the door of the hall of fame opened wide and beckoned to the sturdy righthand curveballer. In that stretch, the Reds didn't even come close to getting a safe hit. Two, when just fingers were "crossed" for Monte to become the first pitcher in world series history to hurl a no-hit, no-run game, the spell was broken.

ONLY TWO HITS
Big Ernie Lombardi, the slow-footed but dangerous-hitting catcher of the National League champions, stepped up with one out in the eighth inning and lined the first pitch to him over second base for a single. Bill Werber's ground single to left with two away, in the ninth, was just an anti-climax.

With all due credit to Pearson, who pitched a no-hitter against Cleveland Indians during the regular season last year, the Yankees didn't need all his elegant elbowing today. They played a strictly Yankee type of ball game at the plate, put on one quick, wrecking display of their batting power at the expense of Bucky Walters, the National League's leading winner this year, and then saved most of their efforts for what turned out to be a vain attempt at saving Pearson's no-hitter.

The bombing department broke loose in the third inning. Before the smoke cleared, Yankees had three runs and the ball game.

Dahlgren opened with his second two-bagger of the series. Pearson laid down a neat sacrifice bunt. Then, after Frankie Crosetti grounded to short for the second out, sending Dahlgren home, the fireworks were set off.

Red Rolfe's fly ball fell safely between Harry Craft and Ival Goodman in short right centre for a single. Charlie Keller, whose triple in the ninth yesterday started the winning rally, shot a high fly to left field, which bounced off Berger's glove for a double, and Rolfe came rolling home.

Joe DiMaggio's outfielding star of this game, topped a ball down the third base line and beat it out for a hit when Walters was unable to make a play. Bill Dickey bounced a single through second, scoring Keller. George Selkirk grounded out to end the spree.

Dahlgren followed this scoring spurge in the fourth inning with the first home run of the series. A long high left, which barely cleared over Berger's outstretched glove and into the left field boxes.

All told, Monte's row collected nine hits, five of them in the third. The crowd came within 7,000 of a series game turnout. Today's gross gate was $226,017, of which the players' pool took $115,268, bringing to $226,979 the performers' share of the receipts.

The series takes a day off tomorrow, giving the clubs a chance to travel to Cincinnati, where the third game will be played Saturday.

Manager Bill McKeechle announced Gene (Junior) Thompson, rookie righthander, would do the hurling honors for the National League Saturday. Manager Joe McCarthy refused to make his pitching selection definite, but it was generally believed it would be Lefty Gomez, recently recovered from a side-muscle ailment; or Bump Hadley, portly righthander.

FINE PERFORMANCE
In the final analysis today the spotlight was taken, held and focused on the thirty-year-old Pearson.

Not a Red reached second base, and only twenty-nine—two more than the absolute minimum—faced Monte as his snapping fast ball and hooking curve mowed down the enemy. He retired the first nine men to face him, then walked Billy Werber to lead off the fourth. Werber was promptly erased on a double play when he attempted to steal as Lonnie Frey fanned. The next down batters came up and went right down again before Lombardi laced his hit.

Pearson, who had previously won three world series games without defeat, fanned right redlegs.

Pearson's performance equaled the best ever turned in by a hurler in a world series game. The books show old Ed Reulbach, of Chicago Cubs, tossed a one-hitter against Chicago White Sox back in 1906, but a check of the official score for that game indicated there were two hits.

Close Call on the Baseball Diamond

There was a double knockout when Charlie Keller, formerly of the Bears, but now of the Yankees, slid into third base with such force, in a recent game, that he and Buddy Lewis, Washington infielder, were temporarily incapacitated. Keller was safe on the play, but not sound. Coach Art Fletcher, of the Yanks (left, below) and Umpire George Piggar survey the damage.

"Sir, I know it is no use knocking your head upon a stone wall," returned the judge. "But I know no other who could perform the operation with less personal injury than yourself!"

New Westminster And St. Catharines To Clash Tonight

Coast Squad of Lacrosse Players to Meet Eastern Winners for Dominion Championship on the Mainland—Same Clubs Met Last Season For Title—Team From East Is Strong

VANCOUVER, Oct. 5 (CP).—The "world series" of lacrosse gets underway here tomorrow night, when New Westminster Adanacs renew their rivalry with St. Catharines Athletics for the Dominion championship.

With only three exceptions, the two teams are fielding the same swift-passing, hard-shooting squads that fought for the title in Toronto last fall. The Ontario champions polished off that series in three straight games.

But things will be different this year. In the opinion of Adanacs manager, Max MacDonald, he believes his squad is "100 per cent stronger" than it was in 1938, and doesn't hesitate to predict Adanacs will regain the trophy that New Westminster Salmonbellies won in 1937. A year's experience had done a lot to strengthen his team, MacDonald said tonight. They've polished up their plays and perfected their weaving style of attack which usually features a lot of short, snappy passes near the net.

One of the Adanacs' big troubles in last year's series was the number of penalties they received for breaking the interference rule. They broke into conflict with that because the ball-carriers had been taught to run up the floor behind other players.

GREAT GOALIE
Inter-City League referees clamped down on the play last season, and MacDonald said the team has just about eliminated the system. Behind the effective attacking lines stands the Adanacs' goalkeeper, Eddie Johnson, who built up a record of stopping 60 per cent of the shots during the Inter-City League season. According to MacDonald, Johnson is "one of the team's biggest assets."

After the opening game in Vancouver tomorrow night, the teams move to New Westminster for the two following games next week. If more than three games are required to complete the series, Vancouver will get the fourth and New Westminster the fifth.

In the year since they were defeated by St. Catharines, Adanacs have made but two changes in the line-up, adding Bud Matheson and Ray Lizzie, both of whom played on their intermediate squad last year. The only Adanacs who won't see action in the series is Bob Lee, heavy defence man, who suffered an eye injury in the inter-city play-offs.

As for the Athletics, their only new player is George Coles, formerly of the Orillia Terriers.

HOCKEY SCHOOL IS NOW OPENED

PORT ARTHUR, Oct. 5 (CP).—Manager Mervyn (Red) Dutton, of New York Americans, sent students at his amateur hockey school through their first scrimmage with sticks today, and announced that he would start weeding out the less promising players on Saturday to reduce the squad.

Three products of Lakehead rinks today joined the camp operated by the National League club prior to opening of the major leagues' autumn training.

The newcomers are Bob Keane, returned this year from two seasons in England; Bill Maki, a defenseman last year with Duluth and Fort Frances, Ont., of the International Amateur League, and Bill Matson, former Port Arthur junior.

The students were sent through skating and limbering-up exercises when the school opened yesterday, and today Dutton gave them sticks, formed them into sets of forward lines and sent them through passing and shooting practice.

Buddy Baer Wins Over McDonald in Second Round

LUBBOCK, Tex., Oct. 5 (AP).—Buddy Baer, of Sacramento, Calif., opened his heavyweight boxing "comeback" after a year's lay-off by knocking out Sandy McDonald, of Dallas, in the second round of their scheduled ten-round main event here tonight.

The twenty-four-year-old Baer, for whom Manager Ancl Hoffman entertains championship hopes, held the ambitious McDonald off with a long left during the first round, but won it with a couple of looping rights to the head.

Referee Travis McCall finished the count two seconds before the second round would have ended. Baer weighed 248, McDonald 215.

Play-by-Play Description

Here's a play by play description of the second game of the world series between the New York Yankees and the Cincinnati Reds played yesterday at the Yankee Stadium.

FIRST INNING
Reds—Weber worked the count to three and two and then sent a high pop out to Gordon on the grass in front of second. Frey lifted a long lazy fly to right centre and DiMaggio looped over to pull it there. Goodman fouled to Rolfe in front of the third base boxes. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees—The haze had settled down over the outfield considerably and it was difficult to read the scoreboard from the stands back of the plate. Crossett let the count reach two and one, then dumped a single in short left centre, the ball just sailing over Myers' outstretched glove. Crossett was nearly picked off first by Lombardi's fast throw, but just got back to the bag in time. Rolfe bounced the ball to Walters, who threw to Myers at second, forcing Crossett, but Myers' peg to first was too late to catch Rolfe and he was safe on the fielder's choice. Frey took Keller's hot grounder and stepped on second, forcing Rolfe. Keller was safe on first, as there was no play there. DiMaggio backed Berger almost to the gate in front of the Yankees bullpen in deep left for his long fly. No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

SECOND INNING
Reds—DiMaggio trotted into left centre to take McCormick's left. Lombardi fouled off five pitches, then sent a long fly to Selkirk in deep left centre. The Reds were lined up on the game, while the Yankees as usual sat back on the bench and enjoyed the proceedings. Craft worked the count to two and two, then fanned, swinging at a low breaking curve. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees—Dickey received a nice hand as he came to bat, apparently as a reward for his ninth-inning single which won yesterday's game. Dickey was called out on strikes on three pitches, as Walters worked the corners beautifully. Selkirk dropped a Texas league single in short centre, but was out at second trying to stretch it. Craft to Myers. Craft pulled down Gordon's fly to centre. No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

THIRD INNING
Reds—Except for the far reaches of the upper deck in left, the stands were comfortably filled all around the park by this time. Berger shot a long fly to Selkirk in left. Myers was called out on three strikes, Pearson fanning him for the third time. A drop that broke across the knees. Rolfe took Walters' grounder near third and threw him out easily. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees—Dahlgren's liner bounced safely in left field and into the left field boxes for a ground rule two-base hit. Pearson laid down a nice sacrifice bunt and was thrown out. Walters to McCormick. Dahlgren fumbled to third. Myers momentarily fumbled Crossett's grounder, but recovered in time to throw him out at first. Dahlgren scoring with the first run of the game. Rolfe's fly fell safely in short right centre between Craft and Goodman for a single, and the crowd whooped it up as the Yankees appeared to be on their way. Keller's high fly bounced off Berger's glove in the left field corner and fell safely for a two-base hit. Rolfe scoring. DiMaggio topped the ball down the third base line and beat it out safely for a hit. Keller going to third. Walters picked up the ball, but was unable to make a play at center base. Dickey bounced a single through Frey scoring Keller and sending DiMaggio to third. There was considerable activity in the Reds' bullpen. Frey made a nice play on Selkirk's grounder deep on the infield dirt and threw him out. Three runs, five hits, no errors, two left.

FOURTH INNING
Reds—After taking two strikes, Weber walked as Pearson lost his control on four straight pitches. He was the first of the Reds to reach first base in the game. The Cincinnati cheering section howled lustily as Frey whined three balls go by. Then he fanned, swinging at a fast ball and Weber, attempting to steal on a fast ball outside for a third strike, Dickey to Crossett on a fast peg. Goodman went down swinging at a fast ball outside for a third strike, Dickey completing eight and two-thirds innings in a row, including the latter half of yesterday's game, in which the Reds had failed to hit safely. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees—Weber made a nice play on Gordon's grounder and threw him out at first. Dahlgren's long fly sailed over Berger's glove and into the left field boxes for a home run, the first of the series. The ball bounced into the boxes and then back onto the playing field as Dahlgren trotted around the bases and the fans roared. Pearson was called out on strikes. Crossett topped the ball about four feet in front of the plate and Lombardi threw him out at first by a good margin. One run, one hit, no errors, none left.

FIFTH INNING
Reds—McCormick fanned, swinging at an inside pitch. He was Pearson's fifth strikeout victim, third in a row. Lombardi bounced to Pearson and was thrown out by fifteen feet. With the count three and two, Craft went down swinging for the second time in the game. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees—Frey picked up Rolfe's roller and threw him out on a fast play. Keller's second straight hit was a line single to left. DiMaggio smashed a boulder to Walters who threw to Myers, forcing Keller, and Myers pegged to McCormick in time to retire DiMaggio for a snappy double play. No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

SIXTH INNING
Reds—The ball hit Berger's bat as he tried to duck away from a pitch and it bounced to Pearson, who threw him out. Crossett came up with Myers' fast hopper and tossed him out. Walters received a nice hand as he came to the plate. Walters fanned, swinging at a low breaking curve. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees—Goodman backed up against the low wall in front of the right-field stands to haul down Dickey's long fly. Selkirk fouled off four pitches and Lombardi walked halfway to the mound to confer with Walters. Selkirk then was called out on strikes as he watched a knee-high inside pitch go by. He stood at the plate arguing with Umpire "Beans" Reardon for a few moments and the fans booed. Gordon fanned, swinging at a nice breaking curve. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

SEVENTH INNING
Reds—DiMaggio raced down to deep right centre and took in Werber's high fly. Dahlgren trotted in to the infield grass in front of first and took Frey's soaring pop-up. DiMaggio raced fifty yards across centre for a full catch of Goodman's fly and the Reds were left without a hit for the ball game. No pitcher has ever hurled a no-hit game in world series competition. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees—Dahlgren went down swinging at a job-breaking curve. He was Walters' third straight strikeout victim. As Pearson came to bat the fans applauded for a full minute. Myers raced onto the out field grass back of third and took Pearson's pop-up. Myers had to race back into short left centre to pull down Crossett's left. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

ANSWER TO LAST PUZZLE

"LANGUAGE"—IT COMES FROM "TONGUE"

The origin of language will probably remain forever an unsolved problem. There have been students who maintained that in the dim long ago of man's residence upon this planet, God taught our progenitors to speak. Others hold that speech was made an innate faculty in man, who was created an inherently talking animal. However this may be, there is no doubt that we are born with the ability to frame spoken language, that is, sounds made by the vocal organs. Now, perhaps the most important vocal organ is the tongue. So important that in many languages, "tongue" and "language" are represented by the identical word. And though not at once obvious, this is the case in English. For our word "language" derives through the French from the Latin lingua tongue. (Revised by Bell Syndicate)

WHEN THE HEART BEATS SLOW DOWN DURING SLEEP, GOITRE IS NOT LIKELY PRESENT

Now that so many readers know that one of the outstanding symptoms of goitre is rapid beating of the heart, there is an increasing number who have stopped worrying about heart disease, but are wondering if they have an early goitre. As a matter of fact, no one should wonder or worry about heart disease or goitre, as both conditions can be readily detected by the family physician. The use of the electrocardiograph when heart disease is suspected, and of the metabolism (rate at which body processes work) test for suspected goitre, help the physician when he finds it necessary to get more complete information about the case.

This symptom of rapid beating of the heart is often the first clue the physician obtains in goitre, and yet now that this symptom is so well known, it might cause many individuals to worry unnecessarily. They count their pulse frequently during the day and perhaps the first thing in the morning and the seems to be "always" fast.

Some reassuring information comes to us from Drs. G. E. Beilby and J. C. McClintock, Albany, in The New York State Journal of Medicine. "One of the most helpful findings in learning whether or not goitre is present is tachycardia (rapid heart beat). In doubtful cases, the pulse rate should be studied while the patient is in bed and resting over a period of several days. A persistently high pulse (one that is high during sleep) is very likely to show that goitre is present, while a heart rate that drops to normal after a few hours of rest in bed, and goes up rapidly after slight exertion, usually means that goitre is not present."

There are, of course, other signs and symptoms present in goitre—nervousness, trembling, indigestion, sleeplessness. However, this knowledge that absolute rest for hours (or days sometimes) will not slow down the heart rate where goitre is present, but will slow it down if goitre is not present should be worth much to all those who are in doubt about the cause of a rapid heart beat.
